

Short CV: Dr Huei Jinn TONG

Jinn graduated with a Bachelor of Dental Surgery from the National University of Singapore (NUS). She then pursued her postgraduate studies in Paediatric Dentistry at the University of Leeds (UK). After returning to Singapore, Jinn worked at her alma mater as an Assistant Professor and Consultant in Paediatric Dentistry where she taught both undergraduate and postgraduate students. She obtained Membership in Paediatric Dentistry of the Royal College of Surgeons (England), and is an accredited Specialist in Paediatric Dentistry in Singapore. Her interests lie in management of children with severe traumatic dental injuries, as well that those with medical conditions and special developmental needs.

Jinn currently works in private practice, and concurrently holds an Adjunct Senior Lecturer and Visiting Consultant position at the National University Centre for Oral Health, Singapore. She remains an academic at heart and continues to participate actively in dental research and presents regularly at international conferences.
